

Proposed Witchcraft Convictions (Pardons) (Scotland) Bill

Introduction

A proposal for a Bill to pardon all those convicted under the Witchcraft Act 1563.

The consultation runs from 23 June 2022 to 15 September 2022

All those wishing to respond to the consultation are strongly encouraged to enter their responses electronically through this survey. This makes collation of responses much simpler and quicker. However, the option also exists of sending in a separate response (in hard copy or by other electronic means such as e-mail), and details of how to do so are included in the member's consultation document.

Questions marked with an asterisk (*) require an answer.

All responses must include a name and contact details. Names will only be published if you give us permission, and contact details are never published – but we may use them to contact you if there is a query about your response. If you do not include a name and/or contact details, we may have to disregard your response.

Please note that you must complete the survey in order for your response to be accepted. If you don't wish to complete the survey in a single session, you can choose "Save and Continue later" at any point. Whilst you have the option to skip particular questions, you must continue to the end of the survey and press "Submit" to have your response fully recorded.

Please ensure you have read the consultation document before responding to any of the questions that follow. In particular, you should read the information contained in the document about how your response will be handled. The consultation document is available here:

Aim and approach - Note: All answers to the questions in this section may be published (unless your response is "not for publication").

Q1. Which of the following best expresses your view of the proposed Bill? (Please note that this question is compulsory.)

Fully supportive

Q2. Do you think legislation is required, or are there other ways in which the proposed Bill's aims could be achieved more effectively? Please explain the reasons for your response.

I think if there had been effective alternatives, the desired outcome would have already been achieved but alas this topic has been long overlooked and legislation is needed to push the debate through.

Financial Implications

Q3. Any new law can have a financial impact which would affect individuals, businesses, the public sector, or others. What financial impact do you think this proposal could have if it became law?

some increase in costs

Please explain the reasons for your answer.

Even if there might be additional costs to implement this bill, there is no price consideration that can be put on doing the right thing. This bill is about a moral duty to right a historic wrong.

Equalities

Q4. What overall impact is the proposed Bill likely to have on equality, taking account of the following protected characteristics (under the Equality Act 2010): age, disability, gender re-assignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation?

Positive

Please explain the reasons for your response including the impact on people with particular protected characteristics

Society as a whole would benefit because everyone benefits from a more equal environment. That said, it would particularly benefit women and all other groups who have been at the fringes of society and in the past would have been targeted by "witchcraft" accusations. The topic remains relevant today as often women are still demeaned by being called witches, a term which, despite not being a swear word, certainly is pejorative and derogatory.

Sustainability

Q5. Any new law can impact on work to protect and enhance the environment, achieve a sustainable economy, and create a strong, healthy, and just society for future generations.

Do you think the proposal could impact in any of these areas? (If you do not have a view then skip to next question)

Please explain the reasons for your answer, including what you think the impact of the proposal could be, and if there are any ways you think the proposal could avoid negative impacts?

The proposed bill would certainly contribute to a strong, healthy and just society for future generations. Strong because it would not be afraid to recognise past mistakes, healthy because it would make amends for said mistakes and just because no particular groups would be targeted without the strong message that discrimination is not acceptable. At the end of the day, women suffered huge discrimination because of allegations of witchcraft and approving the current bill would send a strong message that discrimination is never tolerated, not now, not ever, and that past deeds do not go unaddressed.

General

Q6. Do you have any other additional comments or suggestions on the proposed Bill (which have not already been covered in any of your responses to earlier questions)?

It is flabbergasting that such a clear human rights abuse has remained unaddressed for so long. It is our duty to do better, choose better, right the wrongs of our ancestors and send a strong message to society at large that moving forward these are the values we stand for.
